NATIVE LICK™

*Kelp's Prehistoric Cousin
For All Grazing Livestock*

• NATIVE LICK™ is conducive to healthy digestion and absorption of miscellaneous undesirable compounds (e.g. rumen ammonia, fermentation acids & mold and mycotoxins).

NATIVE LICK™ is a proprietary blend of prehistoric minerals mined from 5 different ancient seabed deposits, consisting of the fossilized remains of ocean seaweeds, fish, crustaceans, mollusks, plankton and sea water elements! NATIVE LICK™ is a “soup” of numerous elemental compounds presented in a colloidal, chelated, ionic and inorganic arrangement providing a highly available suite of macro, micro and earth ultra-trace minerals.

Wild animals of many species frequent mineral licks in their native environments during specific occasions to partake in what is referred to as “geophagia” or the eating of earth. Instinctively, both native and domesticated livestock seek out mineral stores to meet the elemental demands associated with growth, lactation and gestation; as well as to balance mineral excesses and deficiencies. NATIVE LICK™ provides a buffet of pre-historic minerals that can complement kelp meal at a very affordable cost.

Directions for use: Feed NATIVE LICK™ alone (free-choice); or blend NATIVE LICK™ 50/50 with Kelp; or blend NATIVE LICK™ with equal parts Kelp and Salt (1/3 of Each)
